

Data protection information

The payment information (account number, BIC, IBAN, card expiry date and suffix, date, time, amount, terminal location) is forwarded to InterCard so my payment can be verified and processed.

In the event of a returned direct debit, the card or account number will be saved in an InterCard lock file until the receivable is paid, unless rights from the basis transaction (e.g. due to a defect in material) were asserted. The lock file and the payment data are stored and used by InterCard to prevent card abuse and to limit the risk of payment default. InterCard provides the third parties connected to it with recommendations of whether an EC direct debit payment can be accepted. Further information can be found in the Customer Information Notice.
